Educational Foundation

2008/2009 Ann Arbor Public Schools Educational Foundation Grants

Grant Number: 1301

Grant Applicant(s): David Szczygiel

School: Abbott/Lakewood – 2nd, 3rd, and 4th grade

Grant Title: Eye Spy

Total Project Fee: $554.00

Award: $554.00

Fifty Word Summary: The project is to purchase 65 hand lenses (doublet magnifiers) to equip each child on field trips conducted by the Environmental Education Program. This number would accommodate the children, teachers, naturalists, and chaperones for two classes, which often combine for a field trip experience. The hand lenses would be stored in the Environmental Education Program offices at Lakewood School, distributed to participants while traveling to the field site, and returned to the trip leader on conclusion. They will continue to be used in future years. The lenses are impervious to scratching and mounted in chrome-plated folding cases. They have a magnification power of 10x and a 13-millimeter diameter lens. Each will be strung on a cord. The investigative science that would be enhanced by the hand lenses include the study of rocks and minerals, the observation of small invertebrates in ponds, the structure of plants and small habitats, and the function of fungi and invertebrates in decomposition. The goals are to reveal the intricacies of small particles, spaces and living things in ways relevant to curriculum and to enhance observation skills. The individual use of hand lenses also introduces students to scientific equipment as tools for discovery.

Grant Title: An Interdisciplinary Approach: Music, Visual Art, and Literacy Connections

Total Project Fee: $850.00

Award: $850.00

Fifty Word Summary: I hope to deepen student involvement at Allen Elementary School toward understanding of an art form or a particular work of art. To nurture appreciative, reflective, and participatory engagements with the arts. To develop meaningful connections to related art forms and relevant disciplines through a more in-depth study of the work of art. Each work of art, either visual or literary will focus on a larger concept already covered in music. The idea is not a new one, however, it is necessary to use authentic artwork and true literary works. I wish to establish a common literacy vocabulary between the arts disciplines and classroom curriculum. The goal is that not only will the students learn the concepts being taught, but they will expand their appreciation and participation of music. This project will address two of the National Content Standards in Music Education. The first being #8, understanding relationships between music, the other arts, and disciplines outside the arts, and #9, understanding music in relation to history and culture. Potentially this project can affect 385 students, however, through the subsequent performances that may be done as a result will help to build unity throughout the school and touch the surrounding community.
